watchman returned to the grave, and again heard a hollow noise, interrupted by sighs. He once more hastened to the magistrate, earnestly soliciting him to cause the grave to be opened; but the latter, being irresolute, delayed this measure till the next morning; when he applied to the sheriff, who lived at a distance from the village, in order to obtain the necessary directions. He was, however, obliged to wait some time before an interview took place. The more judicious sheriff severely censured the magistrate for not having opened the grave on the information of the watchman, and desired him to return and cause it to be opened without delay. On his arrival the grave was immediately opened; but, just Heaven! what a sight! the poor wretched man, after having recovered life in the grave, had expired for want of air. In his anguish and desperation, he had torn the flesh from his arms. All the spectators were struck with horror at this dreadful scene.

Should the views of our German author relative to the influence of the earth-bath be correct, what a warning have we in the instance before us, to be doubly cautious in submitting the body to a process that may again reanimate its slumbering energies, only to consign it to the unimaginable terrors of a living tomb.

American Wives.

J. G. Kohl, a German traveler, who has described more than half the civilized world, has lately written what purports to be an account of the young ladies of America. He says, "If a lovely American girl sinks into the arms of a man, to be bound to him for life, she does so much in the same way as she throws herself into her easy chair. Marriage is her pillow, her sofa, on which she intends henceforth comfortably to repose. Upon it she confidently throws all the burden of her cares and troubles; she regards the husband as her factotum, who has to provide for all her wants. He must procure a house according to her fancy; he must furnish this house exactly as she wishes it; he must arrange and administer kitchen and cellar, and even go every morning before breakfast to make the necessary purchases for the day's meals. Even in Washington you may at times see senators—statesmen renowned in the world and influential in the papers—hurrying to market at an early hour, with a basket on their arm, and carrying home salad, pastry, green peas, strawberries or other vegetable produce. Even farmers' wives often hold themselves much too high for business of this sort, and scenes of the following nature may be seen at market. A young farmer's wife once saw sitting in a little one-horse chaise and holding the reins. In her elegant dress she could not, of course, be expected to go into the dust and confusion of the market, so she had send off her husband. He was busy among the stalls, like a swallow collecting insects for its young, and presently appeared again laden with all sorts of boxes and parcels. These the farmer's wife, naturally, could not take on her silk lap, so the husband had to hold them carefully in the chaise."

A CHAP who went to California poor and subsequently became very rich, is now so extravagant that he skates on ice cream.

The Dutch Flat Murder.

Two murders and two murderous attempts* within two weeks, among the small number of Hebrews in California—two murders both committed in the dead of night—both in the very houses of the victims—both against peaceable, inoffensive men, ought specially to rouse our attention, and be held up as a caution. There are men who have lived from infancy to a hoary age in cities in Europe counting as many Hebrews as the whole State of California does, who never heard of a murder in their midst, and we had to record two atrocious known cases within two months, and three within about nine, besides two narrow escapes.

We have, then, the sad duty to fulfill to recur to this melancholy affair, and even to copy the particulars from the Dutch Flat Enquirer, for which and for other particulars we are indebted to Mr. S. Heyman, of Dutch Flat, to whom we return our sincere thanks.

The Murder was committed November the 5th.

We excerpt from the leader in the Enquirer.

"We could learn about as follows:

Just before the departure of the Sacramento stage, which leaves about two o'clock, A. M., a man knocked at the door of the dwelling house of Mr. Louis Vogle, and demanded admittance, and, after some hesitation, the door was opened, and the man entered, when Mr. V. ordered him to leave the house, stating that unless the intruder departed, he would shoot him. When, according to the evidence elicited before the Coroner's Jury, the stranger signified his willingness to depart, when both the men jumped over the banister into the garden, and the wife of Mr. V., says, "everything was quiet." On opening the bed-room window, however, about 6 in the morning, Mrs. Vogle discovered the murdered body of her husband lying in the garden. Mr. Vogle, it appears, had gone out with nothing on save his night-clothes, and was found so on the morning above stated, with seven slight stabs about the throat, one on the back near the shoulder-blade, one on the right and one on the left side of the chest, the two latter wounds penetrating the chest.

Mr. V. was a worthy citizen of this town, and was generally respected. . . . Poor children; it has been but a few months since these little ones, the eldest of whom is but ten years of age, was called on to mourn the loss of an affectionate mother, and now they follow to the grave the remaining parent, who, but for this unforeseen event, would have been a protector and guardian to his offspring.

* A highly respected Hebrew of the South had a narrow escape from being shot down, for merely telling a man (?) not to take the feed which he had ordered at the hotel for his own horse. And another case we read of in one of our best weeks exchanges.

The neighbors heard some one, about the time the murder is supposed to have been committed, making quite a noise around the stage; but on the stage starting, after taking a passenger, the noisy person left, and everything remained quiet till morning.

.... There was considerable excitement manifested on the morning of the murder, and we believe some one or two persons were arrested on suspicion, but were again released.

From the testimony the suspicions of the community are directed against an individual who visited this place from Red Dog, on Monday last. Suspicion, however, of this man, appears to attach itself to him, from the absence of anything more tangible to rest upon. He came to this place from Red Dog on Monday, where we learn he has always sustained a character for industry and sobriety; as also, at Iowa Hill, where he formerly lived. McKennon, it is presumed, was entirely unacquainted with Mr. Vogle, yet from the fact that he was seen at the stage when it stopped, opposite the scene of the outrage, and losing his hat, besides having upon his head and hands marks of violence, he is suspected. For the arrest of whom Justice H. Fellows issued a warrant, and placed the same in the hands of Constable J. T. Mathewson.

So far the Enquirer.

From the evidence before Justice H. Fellows and the Jury, we gather the following:

Dr. H. W. Nelson who immediately after discovery in the morning, between six and seven, hastened to the scene, states:

"Deceased appears to have bled internally. Found blood behind the bar in the front room* on the floor and counter, also on the boards and bushes in the yard, and a few drops on the walk leading to the back premises. Traced the blood nearly half way back from the house to the back premises. I observed blood on the front side-walk, between the house of deceased and Sontag's.

Mrs. Johanna Vogle sworn.—A man came to the front door a little while before the stage started, who said, open the door Vogle; (I think he said: Vogle,) and I told my husband not to go, he said, Yes, I'll go. When he started out I called him back, and he came back without opening the door, and laid down a few minutes. The man at the door knocked and demanded entrance; saying he would break the doors and windows if not admitted. I endeavored to keep my husband from going out, but he said he would go, as it was but a drunken man, and he would drive him away with a stick and all would be quiet. My husband pushed me back, and went out, and commanded the man several times to leave his house, and finally told him if he would not go he would shoot him, when the man remarked in an undertone that he would go. Afterwards both men jumped into the garden, when everything remained quiet. I thought that Mr. Vogle had gone into the room with the children, as

* Deceased must then have re-entered the house before he expired.

 The murder was committed in the garden; and it appears the garden was in front of the house from which the stranger, it appears, called the deceased. Here again it is evident that the deceased was in the house after the wounds were inflicted.

was sometimes his custom. I looked into the room but did not find him, when I lighted a night lamp and remained up untill about six o'clock, when I looked out of the window and perceived my husband lying on the ground dead, and I immediately afterwards gave the alarm. Mr. Vogle had no hat on when he went out.

William Davis, sworn.—On yeste-

McKennon started from Red Dog, Dakota county, with me. McKennon, accompanied me for the purpose of seeing a man in Dutch Flat named Hoover. He thought Hoover would give him a job, if not, he would return to Red Dog day. McKennon and I arrived in Dutch Flat yesterday together, and booked names at the Dutch Flat Hotel, dinner, and engaged beds. After dinner, I saw McKennon but once this morning between four and five o'clock lying on a table in the Head Quarters Saloon. I asked Baker's partner had been beating McKennon, as he very bloody. In about an hour I picked up McKennon, asking him, "What all this mean?" He answered that he was down town last night, where four or five men jumped upon him and beat him. Afterwards he got up and washed his face. I then left him, thinking that he had drunk, and thought no more of the matter.

Cross-examined.—McKennon who saw him had no hat and asked me to show him one, as he had lost his, when he jumped upon him. Could not swear that hat exhibited being McKennon's, but similar to the one he wore. . . He is complected, about thirty or forty years of age, and about six feet high; wears a goatee. He is from Canada; does not speak broken.

H. Bowen, sworn.—I was on watch last night, I was on Sacramento street in an hour before the stage left. I saw McKennon start down the street immediately before the stage left, and go into the Head Quarters Saloon. Had on when I saw him, a hat very much like the one shown in court. Do not know whether he had on a hat or not when I saw him coming up the street.

J. Brands, sworn.—I live next door to Mr. Vogle. I work at night mining, until 2 o'clock, and as I got home the stage was stopped in front of Mr. Barkley's house, when I saw a man walking round the stage, apparently drunk, making a noise as though he wanted to fight. The stage started and the man went on towards Main Street hallowing. I know nothing more of the affair, except what came to light this morning. Am positive that the man at the stage called for Davis.

C. S. Clark, sworn.—I live nearly opposite Mr. Vogle, and during the night I was awakened and heard an unusual noise. And lighting a candle I walked out of the house, when the stage came along and a man hailed it, and requested the driver to stop, and talked to those inside the stage; during the time, the man remarked that he had lost his hat; after which the stage left and the man went on towards Main street. This morning about half past six o'clock, I saw deceased lying on his back dead, in his garden.

Mrs. Helena Sontag, sworn.—I live next door to Mr. Vogle's dwelling. Just before fore the stage went off I heard Mr. Vogle come to his back door and exclaim, "Damn you, leave my house." I think the voice came from the same direction as that on which the body was found this morning. He was apparently engaged with some one outside. There was a stranger here last night. Heard Mr. V board, . . . means of providing for should be offered. Several Christian families, at Dutch Flat offered to adopt this child, which, as may be expected, would then be brought up in the Christian faith. But, on presenting a letter alluded to above to some members of the board of the Eureka Society, we were at once—without even as little delay as to have to call or send for decision again—authorised to have the child brought to this city, where the society will take charge of it.

The deceased left no property; at least none that is tangible or convertible. To have his children under proper care, he married in this city but four weeks before his death. So uncertain are all human affairs.

A LATE RETURN.—Another instance has just occurred at Paris proving how long the Jewish feeling may remain latent in the heart before the hour of death brings it out in its full intensity. Chief Rabbi Isidor received a request from an old maiden lady, Regine Rouget, to pay a visit. She had for thirty years led a very retired life, scarcely anybody knowing that she was a Jewess. But feeling her strength declining, her Jewish feelings awoke with all their primitive force, and she wished to be associated, at least in death, with those from whom she had kept aloof in life. The rabbi having ministered to her the consolations of his faith, asked her if she had not any relatives with whom she wished to communicate, and to whom she would leave her property. Her reply was that she had only some very remote relative who were now the most estranged from her as they had changed their religion.

Shortly afterwards she died, when it was found that she had left all her property, amounting to about 120,000 francs, to the Israelitish Consistory, to be employed in charitable purposes at its discretion, on the following conditions: That ground bought for her, and that her mother buried with her in the same grave, all customary rites usual on such occasions being strictly observed; that 8,000 francs be paid in sum to her servant, and that a room be completely furnished for her. We need hardly say that her wishes were scrupulously complied with, Rabbi Isidor himself having officiated at the funeral.—Chron.

The same men Over and Over.

The "Spirit of the Times" in reference to the committee appointed for the laying of the corner stone of a Temperance Hall, makes the following remark:

Either there has been no increase in the population of San Francisco, during the last ten years, or that which has arrived here must be of a very indifferent kind; for, upon looking over the list of the Committee of Arrangements for the obsequies of Col. Baker, we find the same old stale stereotyped names that we have seen grace every public procession on what not, for the last ten years. Do, for mercy's sake, get up a new list, or it will be believed that San Francisco is positively deficient in population. There certainly must be new names, and old residents too, for committees, without the tired and worn out old "pioneer" crowd of 1850.

Ignominious.

DEATH OF JOHN A. WASHINGTON.—This gentleman, the late possessor of Mount Vernon, the home of the great Washington, sealed his immortal infamy by turning traitor to his country, and accepting office in the rebel army. And now he has received his appropriate earthly reward. Peering about, to find how he might aid the rebels to get some advantage of the Federal troops, he was shot by members of the 17th Indiana regiment. He survived about half an hour. His body was sent with a flag of truce to the rebel camp, on the next day.—Boston Register.

THE WASHOE TRADE.—From reliable information we learn that there are at this time some 4,000 wagons, of all sizes, employed in the carrying trade to and from the several towns and mining localities in Nevada Territory. Carson and Virginia City are perfectly thronged with strangers and business. These cities wear the aspect of our most flourishing towns in 1849 and '50, with this difference, that the buildings going up are nearly all of a solid and permanent character.—Stockton Independent.

THE ESSAYS AND REVIEWS.—A society has formed itself in England to publish Tracts in support of the views put forth in the Essays and Reviews, propagating what popularly is called infidelity. These Essays are now in process of translation into Gujaratee, by a Parsee gentleman at present in London, for the use of inquiring minds among his countrymen in India.

COULDN'T AFFORD IT.—"My dear husband," said a devoted wife, "why will you not leave off smoking? It is such an odious practice, and makes your breath smell so!"

"Yes," replied the husband, "but only consider the time I have devoted, and the money I have spent, to learn to smoke. If I should leave off now, all that time and money would have been wasted, don't you see?"

of Israel, on the 25th day of Chislew, 67 before the usual era.

The Maccabees: this is the name of a house of Mattathias—restored the freedom of the people; established an independent power; maintained for a series of years, with valor and wisdom, the supreme authority and political affairs.

The festival established this most extraordinary national deliverance is the lanukah, or the "Dedication," celebrated annually as a half feast by thanksgivings and illuminations.

The Murderers Discovered.

The murderers of the late Mr. Elgutter have been discovered by Mr. A. J. Bailey, detective police of San Louis Obispo, who had been four weeks at work in raising them. One of them, upon whom some blood has been discovered, pretended it to be that of an animal; as having killed a bullock lately. But Mr. Bailey sent the cloth to San Francisco, where Dr. Behrens analysed it, and found it to be human blood. The murderers being native Californians; were brought to San Francisco; they being safer here than among the inhabitants of San Louis Obispo, where Judge and Jury are natives.

The Boy Mortara

The late address of Sir Culling Heard, copied in these columns from the London Jewish Chronicle brought the proposition of demanding the boy from the King of Italy, on the ground of international law.

The aspect of affairs has again changed. The loss character of the woman, who pretended to have administered the baptism, ought from the beginning to have rendered her deposition invalid. This woman now confesses that she had not administered the baptism at all. Such is the evidence elicited now by the conference of Geneva.

The price of land in London may be reckoned at considerable more than £100, 00 an acre. Thus the Excise Office was sold at the rate of £88,000 an acre; the dia House at the rate of $124,000 an acre; some land, as approaches to New Westminster Bridge, at £170,000 per acre—giving an average of £127,000 per acre.

Railway in 1680.

Roger North described a Newcastle railway in 1680:—"Another thing that remarkable is their way-leaves; for when men have pieces of ground between the colliery and the river, they sell leave to lead coals over their ground; and so dear that the owner of a road of ground will expect 20% per annum for this leave. The manner of the carriage is by laying rails of timber, from the colliery down to the river, exactly straight and parallel; and bulky carts are made with four rowlets fitting these rails; whereby the carriage is so easy that the horse will draw down four or five chaldron of coals, and is an immense benefit to the coal-merchant." Who would have thought that this contrivance would have led to so large results till a hundred and fifty years had passed away? Who could have believed that "the rails of timber, exactly straight and parallel," and the "bulky carts with four rowlets exactly fitting the rails," would have changed the face, and to a great degree, the destinies of the world?

BLACKWOOD on the Disruption of the Union with the remark of the Christian Inquirer

After the usual evaporation of Tory gas, and hatred of free institutions, and the depreciation of any reluctance on our part, as Americans, to be abused, sneered at, misrepresented, and denounced, the sapient writer proceeds to arraign the principle of the Union itself, as a mere rope-of-sand expediency, and to presume that the true interests of the American people are not menaced by the overthrow of their nationality. Nay, the author regards the victory of secession as not only a foregone conclusion, but a positive benefit, as furnishing a salutary check to "arrogant pretensions," and "to ourselves (Britons) only advantage;" and then coolly argues that secession contravenes no great principle of right! He ends with predicting the seizure by the army, even if the South is subdued, of the supreme power, and the appearance of "the man on horseback." To such misconception and perverseness there is no other method of reply but that of events.

The First Printed Book.

It is a remarkable and most interesting fact that the very first use to which the discovery of printing was applied, was the production of the Holy Bible. This was accomplished at Menz, between the years 1450 and 1455. Gutenberg was the inventor of the art, and Faust, goldsmith, furnished the necessary funds. Had it been a single page or even an entire sheet, which was then produced, there might have been less occasion to notice it; but there was something in the whole character of the affair which, if not unprecedented, rendered it singular in the current of human events. The Bible was in two folio volumes, which have been justly praised for the strength and beauty of the paper, the exactness of the register, and the luster of the ink. The work contained twelve hundred and eighty-two pages, and being the first ever printed, of course involved a long period of time, and an immense amount of mental, manual and mechanical labor; and yet for a long time after it had been finished and offered for sale, not a single human being, save the artist themselves, knew how it had been accomplished.

Of the first-printed Bible, eighteen copies are now known to be in existence; four of which are printed in vellum. Two of these are in English: one being in the Granville collection, one in the Royal Library of Berlin, and one in the Royal Library of Paris. Of the fourteen remaining copies, ten are in England; there being one copy each in the libraries of Oxford, Edinburgh and London, and seven in the collections of different noblemen. The vellum copy has been sold for as much as eighteen hundred dollars.

Thus, as if to mark the noblest purpose to which the art would be applied, the first book printed with moveable metal types, was the Bible.—N. Y. Sun.

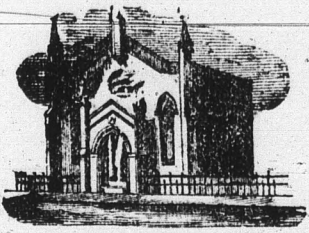

India Rubber Shoes.

India-rubber shoes are a great blessing if worn judiciously. We advise them only when the ground is damp, and even then only while the person is on his feet, and in motion. If it is expected to remain but half an hour in the house, it would be better to slip them off on entering. Hall Health and Diseases.

EQUITABLE REQUEST.

The actual amount of literary and educational labors on our hands since years, is so great that we, in consequence, are obliged to neglect the business department, at least as far as the country is concerned. We can only confine ourselves to a narrower sphere of activity; since, we think, to supply actual wants, not supplied by others. And, as our labors are not pecuniarily remunerative, we can not engage efficient help; hence the great amount of labor resting on our own hands, and the continual monetary embarrassment to the injury of even the cause to whose advancement we are devoted.

The consequence was, that we could not send bills to the country, as regularly as we ought to have done, and the amounts due to our office, have accumulated considerably and in some instances so much that it may prove inconvenient to some subscriber to pay the whole.

We therefore beg to propose to those of our friends, that are able and willing to pay, to remit forth with any amount they may find convenient to spare, either as payment in full, or as they may otherwise desire; so that we at once be relieved from the actual pecuniary embarrassment under which we labor since about three months; and knowing also what we may expect from subscribers—there are names on our list from whose bearers nothing was ever paid hitherto.

We at the same time will make efforts to send bills or have them sent, which, we hope, will be duly honored, and remittance made by post stamps: in cash, enclosed in registered letters, or otherwise at our responsibility.

We also earnestly solicit friends of the "GLEANER" in the different cities and towns, to assist us by acting as agents in gaining subscribers and remitting, as several good men have done on former occasions.

All remittance will be duly acknowledged in the columns of the "GLEANER," as also by letters acknowledging the receipts sent to the respective remitting parties.

In hopes of an early attention to this our equitable request we sign respectfully
EDITOR GLEANER.

INFANT, DAY AND INDUSTRIAL (SCHOOL,

Sutter, near Stockton street; in the building formerly used as a City School, and originally as a church.

The Day School.

The undersigned has opened a regular Day School, under his own management and that of a well-known public school lady-teacher, and such assistance as the wants of the school may call for.

This school, in operation since the 1st of June, is an extension of the Hephzibah School (established July 1854,) and is managed exactly like the public schools; with the difference that it aims at developing the moral faculties simultaneously with the intellectual powers: its efforts will be—as have been those of the Hephzibah School—these seven years—to afford the children an education besides instruction; to supply a want very much felt in our system of education. We have too many "clever girls" and "smart boys;" we should like to see obedient children, and good men.

SEWING CROTCHETING, EMBROIDERY AND MUSIC.

These accomplishments, so necessary for the future housekeeper, are taught at the school as necessary branches of a common school education.

GERMAN AND FRENCH—Pupils, already advanced in the elementary branches, will be taught French and German, if desired.

A number of German parents, who wish their children early to learn to speak German. To satisfy this demand, provision is made for the German to be read as a medium of instruction for those children, whose parents desire it.

Music—This ornamental branch, frequently so injudiciously taught, without regard to health; to talent, and to the probability of the student's being able to bring it to any perfection and of practising it when acquired—will also be taught as soon as there will be any appreciable demand for it.

The Infant School.

A School, after the model of the Prussian Verwahrungsanstalten, under the management of ladies, whose gentleness, suavity of manners and deportment—the first requisites in the early training of youth—cannot fail to exert a healthy influence over the whole after life of the Pupils, is still a desideratum in this city.

The Harmonia School is making every effort to supply this want, and rejoices already in such a promising patronage, that the cooperation of a second body was secured since the short time of its existence; so that ample justice can be done to the school.

Parents have the choice to have their children addressed in German or English.

The confinement of children at too early an age, and their premature intellectual development is highly deprecable. Yet, many parents find it, as we see, acceptable to see their children guarded from street influences and (home) accidents, by placing them under the guardianship of ladies, who by a motherly treatment, will very early and especially cultivate in them the affectional and moral faculties; who will entertain them agreeably—partly by instruction, by stories, by playthings and otherwise; and that, in a locality so large and lofty, that while it keeps the young from the dangers and influences of the street, cannot be considered confinement.

The Harmonia (upper) School room measures 30 by 50 is 18 feet high, with a play ground of 10 by 20 feet for the girls, and another of the same dimensions for the boys situated in one of the most healthy localities, with an appropriate internal arrangement and management, affording to pupils these rare accommodations.

Such a school ought to meet with that support which, similar establishments have met in Prussia and northern Germany; in which country, these institutions, on account of their usefulness, are the special care and provision of Government.

The devotion of the undersigned to the cause of education is fully known, by his labors in this city since full seven years. He is determined to make the Harmonia School his special care; so that, while it is principally under the management of ladies—a great advantage for the young—he will, by his special care and superintendence try to introduce into it that harmony and unity of action which is so necessary for the maintenance of a sound and healthy discipline.

Special care will be taken to see the children safely to and from school. Children living on the other side of the railroad will be sent for; particularly those who have to cross the Market street railroad track.

Charges are those usual in other private schools in this city.

Apply at the School House daily from 9 A. M.; or at the "GLEANER" Office daily, from 12 to 2 P. M.
Commercial st.; or, 517 Clay st.

Independent Classes;

in
NEEDLEWORK, EMBROIDERY, MUSIC, FRENCH AND GERMAN

Independent classes in the branches of this caption are in the process of forming for such pupils, who visit the different city schools.

These classes will be in session from three o'clock the afternoon; so they interfere not with the regular school hours.

THE HARMONIA SCHOOLS.
TO PARENTS IN THE CITY AND COUNTRY.

The Harmonia Day School as well as the Infant School, continue to increase steadily, and begin to enjoy more than an ordinary patronage. They are under the management of two competent and well-known ladies. We hope, if the patronage continues thus, to be able to afford the children opportunities worthy of the attention of parents and guardians.
At the day school, boys are taught the Hebrew and German (if desired), in addition to usual branches; and the girls, sewing and embroidery. We are prepared to add French and music, as soon as there will be any demand for these branches, for the senior classes.

The Infant School takes charge of children of a very tender age, and occupies them in a peculiarly improving manner. Pupils of a more advanced age learn the letters and spelling.

Hebrew children will early be taught the stereotype Hebrew liturgic sentences, and Hebrew melodies. This exercise is of high importance to the child, and will be duly appreciated by the intelligent parent.

The object of the schools will be seen from the circular in another column of the GLENER.

We send daily a boy, in our employ, for children living beyond Market street, and other distant parts of the city.

Vacancy at Victoria.
We received the following letter from a trustworthy friend at Victoria:
"VICTORIA, V. I., July 14, 1861.
REV. DR. J. ECKMAN, Dear Sir: The Israelites of this city are desirous of engaging a teacher for about twenty-five children, respectively from 6 to 18 years of age, at a monthly fee from $100 to $130. I have already $80 on the list, with the assurance of the full amount.
We want him to be a moral man—capable to give to our children a sound English education—together with Hebrew, and if he possess a knowledge of the French it would be preferable; let him be a Moell. A young man with the above qualifications can find a good and substantial situation in Victoria.

chine, an entirely new and incomparable Family Sewing Machine, and adapted to light Manufacturing $90

Do not allow yourselves to purchase a CHAIN STITCH machine; either double or single thread, ALL of which will ravel. All chain stitch machines have a cord on the under side of the fabric, and the work soon wears out.

Work done on Singer's Machines will outwear any other, and is more beautiful. No tailor or manufacturer buys a chain stitch machine.

DR. PARK'S

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY
AND TAR

A SAFE, SPEEDY, AND CERTAIN REMEDY FOR Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all

PULMONARY COMPLAINTS.

Statistics prove that one-quarter of all the deaths in the United States, proceed in some manner from Diseases of the Lungs. It is highly to be commended that, in cases of corruption, suffering and death. As the lungs into fruit, so does a neglected cold or cough terminate consumption. It is a hard thing to conquer in the stages—it should be vigorously attacked at first. The articles of different virtues may alleviate, but

PARK'S BALSAM OF CHERRY AND TAR cures, when any earthly power can.

"INDEPENDENCE, Texas, May 18th, 1881.
"GENTLEMEN: I feel it my duty to speak in regard your Medicine. In 1881 I was attacked with a cold rapidly running into Consumption. I used medicine, and all the physicians I could hear of, but relief, until I hit your Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar.
It was immediately benefited. It has saved my life."
"JOHN Q. SMITH."

"RICHMOND, Texas, May 1st, 1881.
"MESSRS. BARNES & PARK: I am having constant for Park's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar. They have us, it, speak in the highest praise of its effect in kind enough to forward me one gross.
Yours, truly, O. H. PETER."

"ATWATER, Texas, April 22, 1881.

"GENTLEMEN: I am a practicing physician at Atwater, about 25 miles from San Antonio. I prescribe Dr. Park's preparation of Wild Cherry and Tar for Pulmonary Diseases, with the greatest benefit. I have witnessed many remarkable cures."
"W. DAVIS, M.D."

Still results are constantly being exhibited in every community.

Consumption Cured in its Last Stage

Consumptive patient, be of good cheer. We have you joyful tidings of good news, Read! Read!

"HARDONVILLE, N. J. April 18th, 1881.
"I was attacked by a severe pain in the side, the region of the Liver. I suffered intensely throughout the winter. During all the time I was confined to a house, had a violent cough, raised much bloody mucus, and was supposed by myself and others to be in the stages of consumption. The February following, I apparently my life was at a close, I procured a bottle Park's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar. As soon as I commenced its use, I began to grow better. The ness of my side grew less, the cough gradually let the profuse expectoration and spitting of blood and my general health became by degrees restored.
was soon enabled to resume my trade, that of a car, which I have continued without interruption. I further remark that this remarkable cure was effected by only three bottles of the Balsam.
Truly yours,
THOMAS CONTEY"

This article, so harmonizes with the vital facts of the organs and requirements of the system, as to be di case and sooth: all inflammation. If used according directions, it cannot fail to benefit you. Procure the trad. Almanac of any agent (gratis), and read tions in full. But lose no time.

In Consumptive Symptom

"Procrastination is the thief of time" in an awful as it shortens existence and hurries the patient to into eternity.

Thousands are weekly dying while life might be
by the timely use of DR. PARK'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND TAR. A few weeks—a few days—a fatal difference in the progress of CONSUMPTION.

SYMPTOMS.
The chances of success increase greatly with the liness of treatment. Although Park's Balsam has formed cures in cases seemingly desperate, but the most-miscellaneous, still it is advisable to take the on the appearance of the first symptoms.
